Why do the DofE Award?

The Duke of Edinburgh's Award, is a youth award programme founded in the United Kingdom in 1956 by Prince Philip, the Duke of Edinburgh. It was set up for an organisation called the boys brigade. Since then it has grown to become an international Award which is tailored to each individual.

It allows the participant to demonstrate and prove their skills and abilities giving some the chance to overcome challenges. They have opportunities to help others or the environment. They will become more confident, motivated and self-sufficient, all of which will help any in any future employment or when applying to colleges or universities.

Completion of the Award will look good on a CV.

Your child will push themselves beyond what they thought they were capable of and along the way will make new friends or even build on existing relationships.

You play a vital support role in their DofE journey and in this booklet you will find out how the Award levels work, why they are so important and what you can do to support your child make the most of this fantastic opportunity.

Sections and timescales

For your Bronze programme there are four sections to complete:

Volunteering

This is all about getting out there and making a difference by helping others, the environment or your local community.

Physical

This is a chance to focus on your health and fitness.
E.g. Play football, start climbing or have dance classes.

Skills

Discover something that you're good at.
Maybe you can get better at something you already do, or learn something new.

Expedition

As part of a small team, you'll have an unforgettable experience getting to grips with the great outdoors.
You will plan and train ready for an adventurous journey.

You need to do an activity for each of the sections below, over a set amount of time, to achieve your Bronze Award:

Plus a further 13 weeks in either the Volunteering, Physical or Skills section.

In total it will take 26 weeks to complete all three sections.

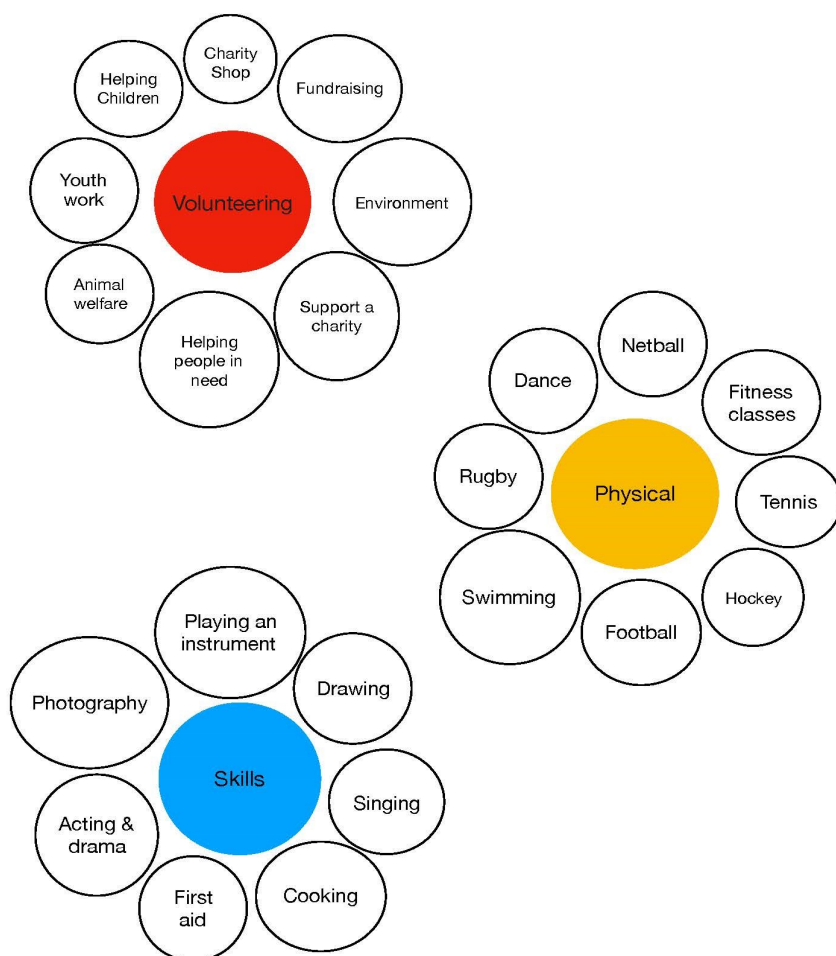

The Duke of Edinburgh Award is run across three Levels at Helston Community College.

Bronze (aged 13+ Year 9)

Silver (aged 14+ Year 10)

Gold (aged 16+ Year 12 and 13)

Please note activities and timescales for Silver and Gold will differ from Bronze. Your child can still choose to do either level despite not having participated in a previous level. These details can be discussed with your child before enrolment.

Activity Ideas

Create your own programme by choosing one activity from each section.

Please go to this website for a list of more activity ideas.

Activity Rules for Volunteering, Physical & Skill

1. Firstly an activity sheet must be filled in with at least 2 sections fully completed with all required details. No activities are allowed to count unless they have first been approved by a leader and secondly uploaded onto the edofe site. Participants will be shown how to log on in a training session by their DofE Leaders. All activities can not start or be counted until 8th September 2021.
2. Each activity will require a person to oversee your progress during your time chosen. This person is known as the assessor.
3. The assessor can not be related to the participant, must be over 18 and Ideally should have an interest in the chosen activity.
4. The participant must liaise with their assessor at the start to set an achievable goal with the aim of helping them accomplish.
5. Activities must be completed in the participants own time and can not be done during curriculum lessons, there are exceptions if you pay for private music lessons during your school day.
6. The participant can not sign off an activity in a short period of time it must be spread over the chosen time period to show commitment.
7. Money can not be paid to the participant, for doing their activities, Volunteering can not take place in a place of business.
8. Participants need to spend 1 hour a week on each activity. To keep track of how many sessions they have done, a record sheet will be handed to the participant for each section, which will need signing by the assessor or someone from the organisation after each session.
9. We will ask to see the record sheets during the year to monitor how the participant is progressing with their award.
10. The good thing about the DofE award, you can count something you may already be doing or you could start something new as long as it is shown on the list of allowed activities. Some of these ideas are in this booklet or for a full list please go to <https://www.dofe.org/do/ideas/>.
11. Some activities can be completed from home instead of at a club or organisation, in this case evidence will need to be collected during each session. This must be uploaded onto the participants eDofE area following the activity unless they are making a scrapbook or similar in which case it will need to be shown to the leader at the end of the activity before the section is accepted as completed. It is imperative it kept up to date throughout the time scale. If evidence is not shown for an activity completed from home, we will not be allowed to accept this section as completed.
12. An app such as Strava or Fitbit, must be used for activities such as running or cycling to record the journey for each session. A screen shot of the session will need to be uploaded online to the participants eDofE area following the activity.
13. At the end of the time period chosen for an activity, an assessors report will need to be written by the person overseeing the activity and this report will need to be uploaded to the participants eDofE area. It is essential this is done within 2 weeks of finishing the activity.

eDofE Website

When a participant signs up to do their DofE Award, they will receive a welcome pack and booklet explaining the Award including a list of activities and a login for a site called <https://www.edofe.org>.

eDofE, is a site designed for the participant to log their activities with DofE Head Office and makes it easier for a leader to manage the participants award electronically.

The participant can also do the following;

- Upload evidence to each of their sections in various formats.
- Communicate with their leader to ask questions.
- Access a resources area of material used in the participants training and their Award.

Everything the participant uploads or inputs into this site, does require the leader to accept it before it can go live.

An assessor report will need to be uploaded to each of the sections at the end of the time period chosen for the activity to be completed online.

This site is an integral part of the participants Award and if we find the participant is not keeping up to date with this system or with their paperwork, we reserve the right to hold the participant from taking part on their planned expeditions.

This system is accessible from any web browser, on a phone, computer or tablet.

If you have a smart phone, download the eDofe app to record your progress on the go. The DofE has already helped millions of young people to learn, grow and stand out from the crowd and now its' your child's turn.

See what top UK employers say about the Dofe award at <https://www.dofe.org/lifezone>.

Our expectations

Running the DofE Award is not our main job at Helston Community College and those that assist in delivering the award are volunteers.

We ask that all participants remain 100% committed to their award.

We do not tolerate silly behaviour or accept bullying to a fellow participant, if we find this is happening, this person will be removed from the award.

Participants must listen and follow all instructions. If we find this is not happening we will contact home and if it continues, we reserve the right to remove the participant from taking part.

Our behaviour rules are as follows:

- A verbal warning will be given.
- If disruption continues the participant will be asked to leave the room and the parent/ carer will be informed.
- The participant will be allowed to return to the next session but must make up for lost time.
- If the participant has to be spoken to again then unfortunately they will be removed from the programme.
- Participants must keep their record sheets and online profiles up to date including getting their assessor to write their reports by no later than two weeks after finishing a section. If there is a problem doing this, the participant must inform their leader.
- If the participant does not keep their award up to date we will hold them from taking part on their expeditions as planned.
- We ask that your children do not attend sport fixtures or any other clubs instead of their DofE training sessions.
- If any training is missed due to illness, it is the participants responsibility to find their leader when they return back to school to arrange a time to catch up. If a participant misses sessions consistently, we will hold the participant from taking part on the expeditions due to health and safety.

Francesca's Story

"I have learnt more about myself from being on DofE expeditions than any other course I have been on. I still smile thinking about the times I spent on Bronze, Silver and Gold expeditions - the memories are so precious to me.

The DofE requirement for skills steered me towards volunteering as a teacher, learning Archery, and for my residential (Gold Award) I travelled to Peru for a month to help rural communities, before trekking to Machu Picchu and Lake Titicaca. I have made life long friends and some special memories.

I have always wanted to be an actor and knowing my strengths and weaknesses from challenges like DofE made me grow as a person; I now understand myself better. My Gold Award Ceremony was a truly special event and it was an honour. Another honour was meeting Russell Tovey, our guest speaker, who gave me many tips on how to thrive in the acting world."

Thom's Story

"Duke of Edinburgh has provided me with countless opportunities which, I hope, has shaped me into a young person I can look back on and be proud of. Is this cliché? Of course. But am I just embellishing Duke of Edinburgh? Not in the slightest.

Duke of Edinburgh was always sold, to me at least, as something universities and employers appreciate and expect from young people. However, Duke of Edinburgh is so much more than an personal statement project.

The ideals of the scheme is to identify and personalise it to be one of kind, to gain experiences which you'll look back on fondly and cherish. By choosing activities that may have first seemed unachievable, prospective employers will hold you in high regard for setting yourself the challenge and strengthening your skill base, not simply choosing the easy route to collect a certificate at the end.

The scheme incentivises and encourages you to challenge yourself to take opportunities, for example scuba diving qualifications, Dartmoor expeditions and completing a residential abroad; these experiences have provided me with immense pride and satisfaction. This alone is why you should participate in the Duke of Edinburgh scheme; for unbelievable experiences which will never leave your side."
