Frequently Asked Questions

How does the College Monitor Student Progress and how do people in College know if a pupil needs extra help?

- Student progress is the responsibility of all our staff. Class teachers monitor and track the progress of all students and this is regularly reviewed by team leaders and senior leaders. This allows for a coordinated response to supporting the progress of all students.
- This information is available online to parents/carers and students at any time and it is reported more formally each term. Parents are invited to Parents' Evenings to discuss this progress with teachers.
- Where students are found to be making less than expected progress, a plan for support is agreed. In the first instance, this is likely to be at a class teacher level. All students are supported by their tutor and progress is discussed as part of these conversations. Where progress is not being made as expected, students and parents are informed and support is put in place as necessary.
- Where progress is a concern, then further assessment of need may be required. Any member of staff can complete a 'Trigger Form' for the SEND team and this initiates assessment and a plan for support as necessary. This is coordinated by the SENCO. If a student is placed on the Record of Need, support in and out of the classroom is put in place to meet targets that are agreed with the student and parents/carers. These are reviewed at least termly.
- Parents are encouraged to make contact with any concerns that they have in relation to their child. This will initiate a dialogue to assess any need and put an appropriate plan in place to meet that need.
- If you think that your child may have special educational needs, then please contact the College SENCo.
- Information exchange is a vital part of the primary transfer process. Staff from the College and partner primary schools are in regular contact and any additional needs are identified early. In some cases, this results in support starting for students through the College in Year 6.

How do we know how good our SEN provision is?

- Our SEN provision is reviewed annually. This process takes in to consideration the progress that the students have made, the quality of teaching and learning and the effectiveness of the 'additional or different' provision that has been put in place to meet the needs of students on the record of need. This is reported to the Governors annually.

What support is there for my child's safety and overall wellbeing?

- Students see their tutor on a daily basis. Tutors have a responsibility for the pastoral care and well-being of their tutees and for the delivery of our PSHE curriculum.
- All staff working in the College have had CRB/DBS checks, a record of which is held on a register at College. Staff receive regular training to ensure they are aware of how to keep children safe at College and any concerns are passed onto the appropriate member of staff.

How can you complain about SEN provision?

- If you wish to complain about the SEN provision in place for your child, please contact the SENCo in the first instance, so we can work in partnership with you to resolve the issues.
- If you feel that this has not been effective then follow the College complaints procedures which can be found at:
<http://www.helston.cornwall.sch.uk/uploads/College-Complaints-Procedure-2013.pdf>

What is the Local Offer?

- This document forms a small part of the Local Offer in Cornwall. The Local Offer aims to help families of children and young people with special educational needs and disabilities (SEND), by gathering useful information they need to know, in one place, so they can make informed choices about the support they receive. Every Local Authority in England must publish a 'Local Offer'.
- Cornwall's Local Offer describes the provision and guidance that is available for children and young people:
 - with SEND;
 - who are aged 0 – 25 years; and those
 - with or without an Education, Health and Care (EHC) plan or Statement of SEN;

Cornwall's Local Offer can be found on The Cornwall Family Information Services (FIS) website:
